A massive queue with tutting clients loads on the pressure and can leave your walk-ins walking out. QJunkie is a fresh barber-centric app with a 60 day free trial, after which it only costs £28 p/m for shops with up to 10 barbers as standard. Entrepreneurial barber and innovator Dan Champion has spent years perfecting the app which was born out of real barber frustration. Dan says "My shop was getting busier. It was great that I had more customers but I didn't want their time in the chair squeezed so much that quality suffered. The wait times meant that some customers just couldn't wait and I was keen not to lose them to a competitor. I was also committed to a walk-in service. My clientele didn't like the idea of appointments and I didn't like the idea of allotting regular time slots that might cap my earning potential. I created QJunkie as a real time queue management system that is entirely tailored to the pace of each individual barber. My shop has a steady flow of customers...we are busy every day, day in day out. No lulls, no downtime."

How does it work?

QJunkie (qjunkie.co.uk) is a real time queue management system. There's no contract and no hardware. The shop owner downloads the app from iTunes or Google Play and sets up their store from their phone and/or tablet. They load up their shop info, services and prices. Each barber downloads their app, logs in to the shop and links their own personal cutting time to each service. They can add in breaks and even choose one of over 100 specially drawn avatars. The client downloads their app and registers, selects their barber, views the queue and adds themselves to the queue. They show up at the time given...happy barber, happy customer. Customers that don't show are 'Yellow Carded', second offenders are 'Red Carded' on discretion. After that it's back to the bench and the long wait.

What are the benefits?

It's real time so customers can see at a glance if their barber is in and when they are available. The app can be linked to a smart TV in the shop and customers can add themselves to the queue in-store on a tablet.

Shops can pay a premium to have their own branded app hosted by QJunkie. There are also four advertising opportunities on each app for barbers to sell to local businesses.

The app maximises shop revenues through a consistent flow of customers and no loss of custom caused by long wait times.

It's stress-free busy barbering.
